- For unit certificates purchased after 1 January 2011 by the investor the custodian bank shall withhold 27.5 % Austrian capital gains tax on the increase in value (difference between the acquisition cost and the sales proceeds) and pay it to the Tax Authority; in this context the acquisition cost is increased by dividend-equivalent income on the one hand and reduced by tax-free distributions (i.e. capital repayments and income already taxed) and the disbursement of Austrian capital gains tax on the other. In accordance with Section 27a Paragraph 4 Sentence 2 of the Austrian Income Tax Act in the version BBG 2011, the acquisition cost (net asset value) is construed net of ancillary acquisition costs (front-load premium). This means the tax is final and no action is required from the investor.

Corporate investors with unlimited tax liability in Austria are subject to 25 % Austrian corporation tax (Körperschaftsteuer – KÖSt). Interest income and capital gains on the sale of securities are subject to 27.5 % Austrian capital yields tax.

Profits gained from Austrian real estate by non-residents for tax purposes are subject to limited tax liability in Austria.

Domestic real estate capital gains encompass:

- profits from managing the property and
- revaluation surpluses

of Austrian properties.

Distributions by domestic real estate corporations are subject to limited tax liability as well.

If the investor proves to the Austrian custodian bank that he or she is a foreign national, the custodian bank will not retain any CGT on the profits of the real estate investment fund. If the investor's revenues that are subject to limited taxation exceed EUR 2,000.00, they are subject to assessment. If the investor does not provide proof that he or she is a foreign national, the CGT retained by the custodian bank will be refunded on application.

For detailed tax information please refer to Section II, Point 4 of the statutory Prospectus and Information for Investors pursuant to Section 21 of the Alternative Investment Fund Managers Act and Chapter 3.1 of the Simplified Prospectus.

Please note that the tax treatment depends on the personal circumstances of the investor and that the information is based on the current legal situation, which may be subject to change. All interested investors and shareholders should clarify their fiscal situation with their tax consultant.
